WOMAN, KIDNAPPED BY COUSINS, FOUND SAFE Bandits Rob And Burn Virginia Bank, Get $119,000

Two Kidnappers Sought Revenge And $20,000 Ransom Money

LOS ANGELES, CAL., January 31.—Mrs. Gladys Withers, who disappeared from her home here last Tuesday, was found early today, a prisoner in a small house on a steep ranch eight miles east of Corona, in Riverside county, about seventy miles southeast of Los Angeles, according to telephone messages to the Associated Press.

Mrs. Withers was unhurt. Two men who gave their names as A. J. and Floyd Carr, cousins, were arrested.

The discovery of Mrs. Withers and the arrests were effected by Los Angeles police and deputy sheriffs who started for Los Angeles with the woman and the two arrested men.

The officers said the Carrs confessed they had felt toward the woman's father-in-law, A. J. Withers, because of a transaction involving a boat and that they kidnapped Mrs. Withers both to obtain revenge and ransom money, of which it was said they had demanded $20,000.

A telephone operator's quick vigilance led to the discovery of Mrs. Withers and the Carrs' arrest. The operator received a call from a pay station for the residence of O. S. Withers and delayed making the call until the police had been sent to the ranch station, where they arrested A. J. Carr, just as he was concluding a long conversation which he had promised relatives in a letter sent them Saturday.

The police said A. J. Carr told them that Floyd Carr had taken the Withers home last Tuesday night and told Mrs. Withers a friend had been injured in an automobile accident and was waiting for her. Floyd Carr, according to the police, escorted her to an automobile where A. J. Carr was waiting. When she became suspicious the two men chloroformed her. They took her to a small house on a steep ranch and put her in a room with only a cot and two blankets.

CONVICTIONS OF BERGER AND FOUR OTHER SOCIALISTS ARE SET ASIDE

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 31.—Conviction of Victor B. Berger, and four other members of the Socialist party for violation of the espionage law was reversed today by the supreme court on the ground that Judge Landis should not have heard the suit after his eligibility had been attacked.

The convicted with Berger in the federal court at Chicago were Adolph Gerner, national secretary of the party; William F. Kruse, editor of the Young Socialists magazine; J. Louis Engdahl, and Irvin St. John Tucker.

Berger and the other four men were convicted under the section prohibiting attempts to cause insubordination and disloyalty in the naval and military forces; and sentences ranging from one to twenty years were imposed.

The appeal was brought in the supreme court on the ground that Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, who presided at the trial, had shown "personal bias and prejudice" against the defendants because of their nationality.

The court divided six to three. Justices Day, Pitney and McKennedy dissented.

Mr. McKennedy added to the dissenting opinion a strong approbation of Judge Landis' sentiments as more fully showing his detestation of the "harmful warfare which was being backed by compatriots in America" under our too indulgent laws.

The majority opinion held that the affidavit of prejudice filed by Berger against Judge Landis was sufficient to have caused his withdrawal from the case and that Judge Landis, himself, was not justified in passing upon the affidavits.

Fires Take Heavy Toll Of Lives

3 Perish, 18 Hurt At Providence, R. I. 13 Die In Hoboken, N. J.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 31.—Three firemen were killed and 18 seriously injured when a wall of a building at 88 Methuon street, collapsed during a fire early today. Two of the injured are expected to die.

HOBOKEN, N. J., January 31.—The death list resulting from the fire, which destroyed the Hotel Colonial here today totaled 13, seven women and six men. The thirteenth victim, Miss Blanche Kahler, 38, of Jersey City, died today in a hospital. Two men, badly burned, are in the institution, where it is said their condition is serious.

Fire department officials started an inquiry today to determine the cause of the fire, while the police department investigated the manner in which the hotel was conducted. Charges of Fire Chief Gilday that whiskey bottles were found in some of the rooms caused the second inquiry. The bodies of five victims, three women and two men, remained unidentified this morning. Scores of friends of missing persons from New York and places throughout this section visited the morgue in efforts to identify them. The bodies were badly charred and hope of identification rested mainly on the few pieces of clothing and jewelry found in the debris.

American Experts Think German Indemnity Too Large, Cannot Be Paid

(By David Lawrence, Copyright 1921) WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Victories are sometimes belated, but history records them none the less. All Washington is pleased over the triumph at Paris of the American idea of fixing a definite sum that Germany should pay as reparation for war damages.

For months the American financial commissioners at Paris fought for the fixing of a definite sum, but both Prime Minister Lloyd George and Premier Clemenceau were afraid that any sum that might be fixed would be disapplying to their peoples and that they themselves would be swept out of political power. President Wilson admitted before the Senate foreign relations committee at the White House that the failure to fix the indemnity to be paid by Germany was "an international secret" and Senator Borah didn't press him for a reply. But the truth is the Prime Ministers of the allied countries had retained their political powers by promising the masses that Germany would pay an enormous war indemnity.

Aside from the historical aspects of the agreement that has been reached at Paris, the effect upon American business, agricultural and industrial, was a subject of much discussion here wherever the news from Paris was carefully studied. American cotton growers and wheat growers and manufacturers who have been clamoring for foreign markets have not been able to sell their goods because European money had depreciated in value. German markets have been of doubtful value because worth of German money has fluctuated so much. With the fixation (Continued on Page Six)

RIFLE FIRE IN MOUNTAINS A L A R M S WILLIAMSON

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Jan. 31.—Federal soldiers and a heavy force of deputy sheriffs were hurried into the mountains surrounding Williamson early today at the sound of rifle firing. Careful search failed to reveal the presence of the rifle men. There were no estimates but there were widely circulated rumors that bullets had fallen in one section of the city.

Intense excitement prevailed for a time, but the presence of Colonel Herman Hall and a company of the 19th United States Infantry served to calm the fears of those who professed to believe that an attempt would be made to rescue the 21 men on trial here for the Matewan shooting.

Many Persons Narrowly Escape From Bombs

SHARON, PA., Jan. 31.—Many persons had narrow escapes from death or injury early today, when two bombs exploded in the doorway of a produce dealer here. Windows in two of the leading hotels were demolished but guests escaped injury.

Other business houses and residences also suffered from the explosion. A railroad spike from one of the bombs penetrated the front door of a church a block away. The family of James Messina, one of the members of the produce concern, and who resided on the top floor of the three story brick building escaped injury.

USED TREASURER'S OFFICE AS A GAMBLING DEN

MARION, O., Jan. 31.—J. C. Ferry, Marion county treasurer, today confessed, police say, that he embezzled approximately $15,000 while serving as treasurer and deputy treasurer, and that he staged a fake hold-up last Wednesday to cover a theft of more than $14,000, which he expected to use in making good his shortage.

Coincident with Ferry's confession Sheriff Frank A. Washburn stated that information led him to believe that others were implicated in the embezzlement. He said an important arrest was expected momentarily.

Investigation, he said, showed that Ferry had been using the county treasurer's office as a gambling den. Ferry's confession followed an announcement by state examiners that the treasurer's books were short approximately $15,000. Ferry is said to have confessed that the shortage covered a long period of time.

A shortage of approximately $15,000 in the books was found by state examiners, they said here today. The alleged peculations extend over a period of five years, or since the time Ferry became a deputy county auditor, the examiners, C. E. Brodwin, chief deputy state auditor, and John A. Bliss, of the state examining department, said.

The examiners are still going through Ferry's books, but plan to complete their investigations by tonight, and open the treasurer's office tomorrow.

Just how Ferry covered up the alleged thefts over the extended period was not revealed. Examiners are not inclined to believe that further shortage will be found, as the figure that Ferry attempted to get away with just enough

Wilson Refuses To Commute Deb's Term

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 31.—President Wilson refused today to commute the ten years sentence imposed upon Eugene V. Debs for violation of the espionage act.

Woman Is Murdered And Robbed

CLEVELAND, Jan. 31.—Miss Grechen Brandt, 37, was found beaten and stabbed to death in her room at the home of her brother-in-law, Dr. Lester Stenzen, with whom she lived, this morning. The body was bleeding from numerous knife wounds and her head crushed by blows from some blunt instrument. Robbery evidently was the motive for the crime.

The murderer escaped with more than $2,000 in jewelry and $100 in cash. A blond stained brick, found below an open window, is the only clue. Police believe the brick was used to beat Miss Brandt into unconsciousness. A slide into through the heart caused death. The room here signs of a hasty search and was in great disorder. An open window revealed the means by which the slayer entered.

Besides Dr. Stenzen and his family and Miss Brandt, the house was occupied by a number of roomers. Miss Brandt acted as a clerk for the doctor and supervised the renting of the rooms.

President Wilson refused today to commute the ten years sentence imposed upon Eugene V. Debs for violation of the espionage act.

Senator Fall Offered Post Of Secretary Of Interior In The Harding Cabinet

By ROBERT T. SMALL (Copyright, 1921, by The Times.) TAMU BEACH, Fla., Jan. 31.—After a gray day and high cold winds at Palm Beach, Senator Harding once more was in the sunshine and basking in the southern terms of his cruise and he expects to spend several days fishing and playing golf on the two courses here adjoining the Flamingo Hotel.

The fishing grounds are twenty-five miles away in Caesar Creek, named for Black Caesar, the pirate, who in the days of old used to operate in these waters. Caesar's headquarters were on Adams Key and it is there the Senator will make his fishing base at a club organized by a small coterie of annual visitors to Miami Beach. The ancient iron ring to which Caesar at one time made fast his boats was stolen from the key about two years ago, but the planks to which it was attached are still there.

Line Raiser Nearest Neighbor While at Adams Key Senator Harding's nearest neighbor will be "Parson" Jones, a famous colored man in these parts, who lives on Foley Key. The Parson many years ago moved out to this barren key and took complete possession of it. There he reigns supreme today. The key was a barren coral island, but some one told Parson Jones there was a fortune to be made in raising limes. The old Parson put his head for a long time as to just how he could plant lime trees on a coral strand. Then an inspiration came to him. He blasted tree holes in the coral reef, imported a lot of fertile (Continued on Page Six)

The effects of the court's decision is to remain the cases to the appellate division which will issue orders for a reversal and a new trial before some other federal judge.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 31.—Declaring that the "conspiracy has failed," Victor L. Berger said:

"I have nothing to retract from anything I have written or said about war or about those who pushed us 'into this way,' when apprised by the Associated Press today of the decision in the case against Berger, who was tried on charges of violating the war time espionage act.

"I decline to discuss the matter at all," the jurist said, and walked away from questioners.

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Federal Judge K. M. Landis refused to discuss the action of the supreme court in reversing his decision in convicting Victor Berger and four other members of the Socialist party for violation of the espionage act.

"I decline to discuss the matter at all," the jurist said, and walked away from questioners.

Rifle Fire

The excitement had died down and the detail of soldiers, mud-bespattered and weary, had returned to their headquarters, when Judge H. D. Bailey ascended the bench and opened the fourth day of the trial. Colonel Hall took his accustomed place beside him and in the court house were 200 additional spectators, ready for examination.

Deputy sheriffs had covered many miles of mountain road yesterday and last night to notify these men that they were needed for jury service.

Eighteen tentative jurors who had spent yesterday in the court house in charge of a deputy sheriff, without permission to see relatives or friends, were in the jury box.

Woman Found

Mrs. Witherell told the officers who rescued her that "the men bought her easily and treated her with every respect."

The police and Mrs. Witherell's husband and father started for the kidnappers' house early today, prepared for any emergency. The officers surrounded the house, and after closing in on it smashed the door and windows.

A man, said to be Floyd Carr, was captured and handcuffed. Mrs. Witherell and her husband rushed into each other's arms. Mrs. Witherell, the entire party started for Los Angeles. The Carrs were said by the police to have implicated others in the alleged kidnapping. The number varied from five to seven. They were also said to have directed the relatives of the woman to deposit the ransom money of $20,000 on a lonely mountain road, promising to release Mrs. Witherell on the roadside, so she could be found after payment of the money.

Rewards totalling $3,000 were offered for information as to Mrs. Witherell's whereabouts. Witherell's former business partner and former stenographer, Charles Beverly and Mrs. Elida Western Tenney, were killed Saturday in an automobile accident while detectives were following them into Los Angeles from a suburb. Why they were followed was unexplained.

The police said A. J. Carr told them he and his cousin kidnapped Alice Clark in Spokane, Washington, several years ago and a woman whose name was not made public in Denver, Colorado. In both cases, he said, they "were forced to drop the girls because they went through with the job," and so received no ransom.

Baldheads, Rejoice!
Successful experiments have been made in a new method for planting hair upon bald heads. It has been found that baldness never affects certain parts of the back of the head. Long thin strips of half-covered skin cut from these parts may be grafted upon the bald area to form furrows. These fertile parts, when brushed, entirely cover the bald lines.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Guilty!

MISS HURST is famous for uncommon stories about common people, but she never wrote a more unconventional story than "Guilty," which appears in the current number of Cosmopolitan. One of the most discussed questions of the day is the theme of this unusual story, and it is handled by Miss Hurst so frankly and in such a startling manner that you can never forget it. This is the sort of story that makes literature. If you don't read anything else in any other magazine get Cosmopolitan today and read "Guilty."

The Most Daring Story

Do You Believe in Fortune Telling?

A pack of cards and an amateur fortune teller brought Corina Foster and Andy Benson together. Andy may have thought he did the wowing—but as Dana Gatlin says in "A Dark Man in Her Future"—who knows what goes on in a woman's mind? If you think you understand women, read this story in February Cosmopolitan.

What Do Women Say at the Circus?

A shrieking note sounds from the compressed air of the callophone augmented by the band, then tumbling and shouting, the clowns come forth, and one of them is trundling a baby carriage with a two year old child in it, his chubby face smeared with clown-white, and, perhaps, squeezed in his arms is a baby lion. Then it is that the remark is sure to come. The remark consists of five words, but every woman says them at the circus, and you will have to read Courtney Ryley Cooper's "The Heir to the Ballyhoos" in February Cosmopolitan and out just what those words are—and to learn more about circuses than you ever dreamed existed.

The Desperation of Loneliness

Only those who have been lonely know real heart-sickness. In "Miss Wife O' Mine" by Frank R. Adams, you may read about a girl so desperately lonely that in the greatest crisis of her life—under the most harrowing circumstances imaginable—she married—whom do you suppose? A burglar. We wouldn't tell for the world tell you any more about the plot because you will want to read the story yourself. You will find it in February Cosmopolitan.

Fourteen Great Features

In February Cosmopolitan which you can buy today there are fourteen great features, each written by a world famous author for America's Greatest Magazine. Among the contributors to this issue are Fannie Hurst, Dana Gatlin, Frank R. Adams, Courtney Ryley Cooper, Meredith Nicholson, Edgar A. Guest, Peter B. Kyne, Elinor Glyn, Percival Gibbon, E. WALTER GABLEMAN, WHOLESALE DISTRIBUTOR HELLUP! ENGINE IS STOLEN

Some time Saturday night bold thieves visited the rear yard of the Harvey Platt home, 1119 Kendall avenue, and stole his 3 1/2 horse power gasoline engine valued at $100. He had the engine repaired and was only going to leave it in the yard over Saturday night intending to put it in the stable on Sunday.

The engine which had been used in a motor boat and on a railroad motor car, weighs close to a 100 pounds, and must have been carried from the yard by at least two men who probably used a wagon or automobile to move it. The rain Saturday night wiped out possible auto or wagon tracks, but Mr. Platt found a number of footprints in the yard Sunday near the spot where the engine had been left. He notified the police and furnished them with a good clue.

Help! Sheriff Robbed

Soap Mentioned in Bible.
The word soap is to be found in the Bible. In Jeremiah, Chap. II, verse 22, which reads: "For though thou wash thee with nitre, and take thee much soap, yet thine iniquity is marked before me, saith the Lord God." The word will be found in one other passage, namely, in Malachi, Chap. III, verse 2: "But who may abide the day of his coming? for he is like a refiner's fire, and like fuller's soap."

Paying on the "Nail."
The English expression is to pay on the nail. It is said that in the center of the Limerick exchange is a pillar with a circular plate of copper about three feet in diameter, called the nail. On this the earnest money of all stock exchange bargains must be paid. A similar custom prevailed at Bristol, where four pillars called nails stood in front of the exchange and were used for the same purpose.—London Mail.

A new fire and demountable rim were either lost or stolen from Sheriff Ricker's Ford automobile Sunday night, the officer being inclined to the belief that the property was stolen from the machine while it was parked on Court street near the jail last night. The property was not missed until Monday morning.

Palaces of Early Times.
Palaces are now the abodes of princes or kings, but the word was once used in a totally different sense. Phillips gives the derivation from palacia, pales or paled fences. In Devonshire a palace was a storehouse; in "Tales of a Landlord," in a house built in 1703 we come upon the word, "all that cellar . . . and the little palace and landing-place adjoining the river Dart." In the forty-fifth Psalm, the eighth verse, is the sentence "out of ivory palaces," that is the storehouses of cabinets made of ivory.—London Times.

COURT HOUSE

Ketter Tipped As Dog Catcher

In an effort to speed up the sale of 1921 dog tags Sheriff Ricker indicated Monday he expected to soon name a deputy sheriff as official dog catcher and it is tipped off that Consable Gene Ketter of Sciotoville, is to get the appointment. Ketter served in a like capacity for several months in 1918 when the present dog law first became effective and he then established a splendid record for taking tagless canines.

Only 1575 tags had been sold by Auditor Roy Coburn up until Monday noon as compared to more than 3500 disposed of last year which is proof that only a little more than one-third of the dog owners in the county have already complied with the law leaving two-thirds or approximately 2400 dogs that have not been provided with the necessary license to roam at large.

Has Two Unclaimed Bicycles

Two of the 15 bicycles stolen by Melvin and Delbert Jenkins last summer and recovered by Sheriff Ricker still remain in the hands of the officer unclaimed. He is anxious to restore the bikes to their rightful owners and urges persons who have lost bicycles in recent months to secure a description of the two vehicles still in his possession from the Arthur's bicycle shop 1016 Gallia street.

The real estate involved consists of eight tracts situated in this city and persons named as defendants to the action include Craighton F. Cook, Cora Carmichael, Stanley Cook and Ida Cook, children of the decedent and her grandchildren, May Smith, Stanley Johnson, Maud Johnson, Ada Van Nostran, Georgia McCollum, Williamette Farney, Denver Farney and Lawrence Farney, besides James Starnes, Lora Cook, Robert Carmichael, Mildred Cook, John Smith, Lillian Johnson, James Van Nostran and Leo McCollum, who the court is asked to require to set up their claims of interest in the premises, if any, or forever be barred.

Free Classes for Instruction in Art Embroidery Work and Dressmaking will Begin Tuesday Enroll

The month of February is usually a little quiet in a business way, coming as it does right between seasons, and this month too, usually finds most women with time hanging heavily on their hands. To make February an interesting and profitable month we have planned to give free instruction in art embroidery work and also in dressmaking, classes in session each day. We have competent instructors who will give their time during class hours to those wanting assistance in the work.

Free Use Of Sewing Machines

We have set apart as much space as will be required on our second floor, main building for the dressmaking class, and space in our millinery section, second floor annex, for the embroidery class. Sewing machines will be furnished free of charge to those in the dressmaking class.

There will be no charges made except for the materials used in your work, which, of course, must be purchased at Andersons'. All work must be done here at the store, and between the hours of 9 and 11 in the morning and 2 and 5 in the afternoon. Unfinished work will be carefully taken care of here at the store during the hours the classes are not in session.

A Splendid Opportunity To Do Your Spring Sewing and Embroidery Work

Every home must have its spring sewing. Why not do yours here and now. We furnish the room, sewing machines and clean up the muss, while you pay only for the materials you wish to use.

Many a woman could embroider a piece she very much desires if she had a little instruction here and there. Many a woman can do her spring sewing for herself and family if she has a good sewing machine and some one to help her cut and fit. Well, here is the opportunity for both.

Plenty of New Material for the Art Worker or Dressmaker

Our stocks are beginning to bloom with spring merchandise and the art embroidery worker will find plenty of the new spring package goods in the Royal Society brand as well as the new and attractive Pacific goods. What an elegant opportunity to make the cheerless February days profitable.

The dressmaker will find just the fabrics she wants here and at prices she can afford to pay. It's just convenient to sew here for you have your trimmings, buttons and findings and everything right at your elbow.

Come Tomorrow Morning at 9 O'Clock and Enroll In One of These Classes. It Costs Nothing

To A Fair Minded Public:

We are selling Oranges, the best oranges that grow. The VIRGIN SWEET RUSSSET ORANGE. The only orange that is considered ideal for the sick and convalescent folks, and those who cannot eat sour fruit.

Why are we selling these oranges at

75c A PECK

BECAUSE we were only offered a price at our groves that wouldn't pay for the work of raising them, by the same interests that were compelling the same dealers to ask you folks up here in Portsmouth 50 and 60 cents a dozen for oranges.

When we learned of this state of affairs we decided to go to the trouble and expense of shipping, handling and deliver these oranges here in Portsmouth and offer them to the consumer at the price of 75 cents a peck. A price that would allow us a small profit and at the same time give the consumer an opportunity to taste the best Florida Orange grown for little money.

Don't forget we are opposite the Drew shoe factory on Gallia street. A few more bushels left—get your oranges while we are here for prices may go up as soon as we leave. Remember the name

Rev. McAfee Returns To His Pulpit After Long Illness

Friends of Rev. T. H. McAfee of Marion will be pleased to learn that his health continues to improve and that he is now able to look after his work as pastor of the First Baptist church in that city. He occupied his pulpit Sunday for the first time in many weeks. President-elect Harding attends church in Marion.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH NEWS

Despite the inclement weather, Sunday evening, the auditorium at the First Baptist church was filled with people who wanted the old-fashioned gospel. A goodly number of men were in attendance. The large men's chorus of 60 voices with the choir led the singing which was very inspiring. "Having a revival here?" some one asked. "No, the crowd is like this for every service." The pastor's subject was "The Burial of the Dead." The choir sang "The Lord's Prayer" which was handled in a forceful manner, emphasizing the fact that those who are not sheltered by the blood of Christ are lost. The news for the week is as follows: Sunday—Official Board meeting at the church at 7 o'clock. Wednesday—Prayer meeting at 7:15, led by the pastor, after which the International Sunday School lesson will be taught. Thursday—The Ladies Aid will meet at 2:30 with Mrs. W. H. FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH NEWS

This being Christian Endeavor week, plans have been made for a busy week at the church. On Wednesday evening, the Endeavorers will have charge of the prayer meeting which will start promptly at 7 o'clock, and will be concluded in time to permit those in attendance attending the Hiram Glee club entertainment; on Thursday evening, the I. C. E.'s will render a program. The title of the same is "Mother Goose" and included in the same will be some Southern melodies. This entertainment is absolutely free to all and the general public is invited. On Friday evening, beginning at 6 o'clock, a winter picnic will be held in the basement of the church. Come and bring well filled baskets, for John Williams will be there and it will be absolutely necessary to see the baskets are heaped up and running over—providing it is the desire of the Endeavorers to see that John has a square meal. Section Two will meet Thursday afternoon at the church. Section Four will meet at the home of Mrs. Oscar Robinson, 1730 Fifth street, Thursday afternoon, February 3. All members please come. Section Three will meet Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles D. Wilson, 1413 Mount street. All members are kindly asked to be present. Visitors always welcome. Rev. Oakley was greeted by splendid audiences at all services Sunday, and he delivered two fine sermons, morning and evening. He is held in the highest esteem by the membership, who was glad to welcome him home from a three weeks stay at Nelspruit, where he conducted a very successful revival.

SENATOR'S DAUGHTER WRITES PLAY

Miss Rebecca Dial

Miss Rebecca Dial, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Nathaniel B. Dial, left Washington recently for Columbus, S. C., to superintend the opening presentation of her four-act comedy which is to be given in that city under the auspices of the Women's Clubs of South Carolina. The play depicts local conditions among illiterates and was written by Miss Dial as her contribution to the world-wide campaign being waged by several states against illiteracy.

"I think we've all had excitement enough for this fair time. Suppose we escape all of the palaver that will surely be lavished on us, and start for home," proposed Mr. Treat.

"All right," agreed the boys, "and we'll take Billy right along. We don't want him to give us the slip. He's too valuable a goat to lose, and we must take great care of him."

"Furry along, boys," urged their father. "Let's get home before the crowd thins him out."

"Where shall we put him?" uneasily asked Mr. Treat.

"Why, that's the easiest thing of all. Where but on the front seat?" answered Harry, unabashedly. That's the better place, you know, and Billy Whiskers is the honor goat of Licking county today."

And this is how it came that Billy really kept his promise to old Brown, and rode back to Cloverleaf Farm in state, occupying the front seat, while the boys, Tom Dick and Harry, were crowded into the tonneau with their mother.

The next morning things at Cloverleaf Farm had settled back into their accustomed groove. Breakfast was over at half past six, and soon after a wagon arrived bringing home the Duke, more vain than ever since his beauty had been publicly recognized, and Topsy, still somewhat ruffled owing to the long chase she had led her keepers the day previous ere she had been captured and returned to the coop she had deserted with Billy Whiskers' aid.

"The boys had marched off to school, each swinging his lunch basket, and each wishing that lessons were half as interesting as the fair."

"Tomorrow the Treats have another surprise."

Copyright by the Sunfield Publishing Co., Akron, O.

"No, nor two thousand," answered Tom emphatically. "Why, this goat is slow. They made their way to the automobiles, for however much they might wish to slip quietly away, the crowds thought differently, and pressed about closely, everyone eager to get a glimpse of this very wonderful goat."

"I'll pay you a thousand dollars for him," offered a factor, the proprietor of one of the side shows on the midway. "He'd do a dandy act I have in mind. A thousand dollars, I say. Take it!" he questioned.

"Yes, a person does get a bit foggy cooped up in houses or chained to a desk as I am," John agreed, "but it has its compensations, this life of ours, after all."

"Rather," answered Gwendolyn in a low, happy voice.

They arrived at the studio and found that Fern and Manuel had scarcely noticed their disappearance. In fact both of them felt that their presence was not in any way necessary to the couple sitting so happily on the divan, all absorbed in each other.

"I say, old man, time to beat it," called John to Manuel. "Then he laughed to see them start and both jump to their feet in response to the call of duty."

"Such a man, such a man," Fern, confided to Gwendolyn as soon as the door had closed on John and Manuel.

"Who? Which?" inquired Gwendolyn, mischievously. "John Neele? Yes, I agree with you. He is a peach if there ever was one. I don't blame you one bit for liking him."

"Who's talking of Neele?" snickered Fern. "I mean Manuel, of course. There is no John when he is around."

Red-Blooded Men and Women
Get Things Done. Rich Blood
Means Vitality

Thin Blood Makes You Lazy
Strengthen and Build Up Your Blood With Pepto-Mangan

Men and women who are on the road to big success are not lagging on the way. They are bright and cheerful because their systems are fed with rich, red blood.

Weak blood, thin and sluggish, will never get you anywhere. You would be surprised how many people are just drifting along half alive. They never want to do anything—never get anywhere—because their blood is in bad condition.

The sensible thing to do is to keep the blood pure and full of red corpuscles. Pepto-Mangan will do that for you the way it has for millions of men and women in the past thirty years. Notice the difference after your blood gets plenty of red corpuscles in it. See how you'll pop out of bed early, refreshed and ready to do big things.

But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan. Ask for "Gude's" and be sure that the name is on the package. If you prefer tablets, take them.
If not ask for the liquid. Both have the same medicinal value—adv.

far western man for this post. Senator Fall is one of the closest personal friends and at one time was said to be under consideration for Secretary of State. Senator Harding found most likely for he values his advice most highly.

Harding Insists He's On Pleasure Trip

Mr. Harding insists, however, he is on a pleasure trip at this time and that he is thinking more of play than of matters of state, and so definite announcements as to the cabinet suit are far in the distance.

Considerable fame awaits the fish that the President-Elect will catch in the sea water. It is the present plan to place them on exhibition in the elaborate aquarium here at Miami Beach. This aquarium was built and maintained by James A. Allison, of Indianapolis, to serve as an exhibit of the wonderful sea life to be found in these southern waters. The Harding catch either will be placed together in a separate glass tank or each in dividual will be given a little collar and tag so that all the visitors in the future may recognize at once the individual fish caught from the sea by the first fisherman president since Grover Cleveland.

American Experts

ing of the indemnity, the German people will have a definite goal. They will know exactly the amount they are mortgaged and what their opportunities will be to rise above their indebtedness.

Decision Far Reaching Indeed, the far reaching importance of the agreement at Paris of the allies is not exaggerated here where most everybody believes the fixing of the indemnity is the biggest event that has happened since the peace treaty itself was signed.

The world wide business depression
has been traced by economists directly to the financial uncertainty that hovers over central Europe. Not knowing how big a load they were obliged to carry, the Germans could hardly make future plans. Internal political disorders always thrive when there is vagueness and indecision in the central government.

The American financial commissioners at Paris—Norman Davis, who is at present under secretary of state, Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan and Company, Vincent McCormick and Bernard Baruch—insisted at Paris that the allies fix a term of thirty years. The reports from Paris indicate that the allies are willing to stretch it to forty-two years. The American advisers didn't suggest a specific sum, though it was commonly reported that they favored twenty billion dollars. Paris reports say the indemnity will be fixed at fifty-five billion.

Finally Accept American Plan
But the vital fact is that the allies at last have accepted the principle of the American commission, namely, the fixing of a maximum and minimum of some kind with a definite term of years. Of course, our officials have only read the newspaper reports thus far, but a personal canvass of the various men who know the reparations question both from a banking standpoint as well as our own government's connection with it, leads to the conclusion that the problem is by no means settled. A start has been made.
The allies have agreed among themselves, but when they approach the Germans, it is certain that the latter will show the futility of imposing such a large sum as fifty-five billion. And the Germans will find considerable support in the United States for their view. The allies will naturally have

Stomach Relief

When meals hit back and your stomach is sour, acid, gassy, or you feel full and bloated. Here is instant relief!

Just as soon as you eat a tablet or two of Pape's Diapepsin all the dyspepsia, indigestion and stomach distress caused by acid ends. These pleasant, harmless tablets of Pape's Diapepsin never fails to neutralize the harmful stomach acids and make you feel fine at once, and they cost so little at drug stores.

a good deal of respect for American opinion for it is no secret that as soon as the Germans give the allies bonds to the amount of the indemnity, the allies will endeavor to use those reparation bonds as collateral for foreign loans they may wish to place in the United States or as part payment of existing war debt.

Will Not Accept Reparation Bonds

But at this juncture it is opportune to recall to all concerned what is in the mind of the Wilson administration and what will be in the mind of the Harding administration—for there is no substantial difference of opinion between Republicans and Democrats on this point—namely, that America will not accept any reparation bonds in exchange for government loans nor will Americans generally buy reparation bonds as an investment until the United States is satisfied that the Germans can pay the amount imposed. In any event, conservative opinion here is that Americans will wait anyhow at least a couple of years before buying German reparation bonds as an investment.

Back of the hesitancy which is reflected in official as well as banking circles is a doubt as to how far the French mean to go in regulating German affairs. The more or less official view here is that the French have already gone too far for their own good in holding a military club over the Germans and interfering with their opportunities to get raw materials that are requisite to manufacturing.

Indemnity Too Much

There is genuine sympathy here for the French, but a considerable difference of opinion as to what is best for France herself, economically speaking. So while the fixing of the indebtedness is expected to relieve the European situation somewhat and start a revival of business, America as an impartial observer will not be reassured as to the value of the agreement until she knows absolutely that the Germans can pay the indemnity demanded.
There is no disposition here to favor the reduction of the indemnity out of any particular consideration for the feelings of Germany, but it is a cold economic proposition of capacity to pay. And our experts have thought, and still think, that fifty-five billion is too much and that the Germans will never be able to pay it.

tion time in which to realize the benefits of a further decline in the cost of living.

Say Agreements Cause Waste

"The national agreements, rules and working conditions forced on the railroads as war measures," the statement says, "cause gross waste and inefficiency."

"I estimate that the elimination of this waste would reduce railway operating expenses at least $300,000,000 per annum. It would be far better to save this sum by restoring conditions of efficient and economical operation than to reduce wages."

"We believe that as the wages of railroad employees were the last to go up, they should be the last to come down, but we do insist that for an ample wage, an honest day's work shall be given."

"The public has a right to insist that this must be obtained. The public has also the right to expect that the railway executives with the cooperation of the regulatory bodies and the employees will as rapidly as possible reduce the cost of railway operation so as to eventually insure a reduction in rates. It is finally a needful adjustment of basic wages would be required. Meanwhile, it is to the interest of all concerned, including labor,
that the rules and working conditions
shall be made conducive to the highest efficiency in output per man."

SEPARATE TRIALS FOR INDICTED SOLDIERS

HAMINGTON, ALA., January 31.—

The trial of Sergeant Robert L. Lancaster, one of nine members of Company M, Alabama National Guard, who were indicted in connection with the lynching of William Baird, a miner, on the morning of January 13, was set to begin here today. Each of the nine men will be given separate trials, the state's attorney having decided against a group trial.

None of the guardsmen charged with the lynching is over 22 years of age and some of them are only 18.
Some of them are overseas veterans.
Although all of them are in moderate circumstances, and have money, citizens of Tuscaloosa, their home town, have raised a fund and supplied able counsel and a stubborn defense in each case is indicated.

On December 22, during the time
Company M was stationed at Townley, center of the coal mine strike zone, James Morris, one of the guardsmen, shot and killed John Northcutt, a miner, after the miner was said to have attempted to kill the soldier.
Morris sent another soldier to notify his commanding officer while he remained with the body. When the party sent from camp reached the scene Morris was dead with a bullet hole in his body. Baird, son-in-law of Northcutt, was sought and on Christmas night surrendered to the sheriff of Winston county from whom he asked protection.

Two days later Baird was taken to the Walker county jail at Jasper. It was from this jail that on the morning of January 13 he was taken by a band of disguised men, carried some distance out of town in an automobile and shot to death by the roadside. An investigation by the authorities was said to have developed that Leslie West, a taxicab operator, supplied the cars to the lynching party. Later it was announced he had confessed his part in the affair and implicated the soldiers. The arrests and indictment of the nine members of Company M followed.

Conditional upon the abrogation of the national agreements by the labor board, the roads ask in addition "that the basic rates for unskilled labor fixed at 39 to 48 1-2 cents per hour in the award of July, 1920, be immediately retracted." The plea is made that inasmuch as rates for unskilled labor in other industries have been greatly reduced since the award became effective. The higher scale on the railroads works to the "disadvantage of other employers and bears with grave injustice upon the great body of our farmers."

The appeal of railway executives is concluded with the declaration that
"in our judgment unless the proposed measures be taken promptly by your board, a situation will shortly develop in which orderly procedure will become entirely impossible."

The engine train left the tracks, the engine plowing, two hundred feet into a corn field before being stopped. The cause of the derailment has not been

Hopley Resolution Likely To Pass Late Today

COLUMBUS, O., January 31.—Adoption of the Hopley resolution providing for a legislative probe of the state highway department was expected when the state senate meets late today. Confirmation of several recent appointments of Governor Davis was also expected. Neither the senate or house are expected to pass any bills today.

Representative Atkinson, minority floor leader in the house, was preparing today to introduce a resolution demanding a legislative investigation of the state oil inspection department.

Governor Davis has told Republican leaders in the assembly that he favors such an investigation. Governor Davis issued a statement today in which he declared he disapproves the bill pending in the house to appropriate $25,000 for the upkeep of the governor's mansion. He suggests that the maximum appropriation for this purpose be fixed at $15,000 a year.

Plan To Place Ministers At Vantage Points To Improve
Church Conditions In Various Southern Ohio Counties

COLUMBUS, O., January 31.—Representatives of a dozen religious denominations, opening a three day conference here today, plan to place ministers at numerous points where a survey of religious conditions has shown urgent need. Twenty counties in central and southern Ohio, have been placed in this class and pastors will be sent to each with the idea of laying a foundation for a wider influence in rural life, according to B. F. Lamb, secretary of the Ohio Federation of Churches.

Many prominent church men are expected to attend the meetings. Church history will be made by the gathering, according to Rev. Lamb, who declared such an interdenominational gathering, "a fellowship of denominations," is unique in the history of the church.

Correction of the more serious weaknesses in the counties surveyed is expected as a result of the conference. Provision for adequate leadership for vast country areas found in the survey to be entirely without resident ministers will be one of the most important problems to be attacked. Definite action, and not "mere discussion" is the announced purpose of the meeting.

An effort will be made to reach interdenominational agreements whereby, at least, one minister will be placed in every community of the 20 counties covered.

Bishop William F. Anderson, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Cincinnati, will open the three-day session Monday afternoon with an address on "How Can The Federation Justify Itself to Its Constituency?" This is the only set address on the program. At its conclusion, the members of the conference will take up a detailed study of survey reports, county by county, continuing until the entire group of 20 counties has been disposed of. This county, considered to be the most difficult of the problems, will be discussed first.

The twenty counties to be dealt with at the meeting are: Meigs, Gallia, Jackson, Scioto, Adams, Ross, Clinton, Greene, Fayette, Pickaway, Fairfield, Perry, Licking, Franklin, Madison, Pike, Clark, Champaign, Union and Highland.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the state federation, proposals to call a state conference of ministers to consider survey reports will be considered. Plans also will be made for county conferences in the 20 counties. At these meetings, to be held in the latter part of February, according to present expectations, findings of this week's state conference will be reported, and definite local programs of co-operation in harmony with the general plans will be formulated.

Reparations

LONDON, January 31.—The allies' reparations terms decided upon by the supreme council in Paris last week, were described as "folly" by the Manchester Guardian today. The newspaper said:

"We may be thankful the terms can never be executed."

In the opinion of this journal, Germany will be able to pay indemnities only by expert goods.

"If she exported every year an additional 300,000,000 pounds worth of goods to France, England and Belgium," the newspaper said, "the outcry raised by competing manufacturers of those countries would be heart-rending. It is already unduly."

CARD OF THANKS

To the friends and relatives—I want to thank you all for your kindness. Mr. Roy Lynn for the way he conducted the funeral and to Bro. Gust for his kind words and to all who gave flowers and those who were present and kind with their machines, and especially the ladies who were so attentive and stayed with us; also C. M. Burton, May the Lord and His blessing to one and all is my prayer.

Idle Hens Start Laying
104 Eggs, Instead of 5

Steady Egg Gain Each Week for Mrs. Pierce in Winter Weather.

"The week before we tried Don Sung, we got 5 eggs from 50 hens. The next week, from a package of Don Sung, we got 12 eggs, and the next week 104. Some of our hens are mere pullets and Don Sung started them laying in 6 days. Mrs. D. E. D. I. Butler, Penn.

Mrs. Pierce selected a severe strain for her test—the middle of January. Yet she got the eggs. Your hens can lay well in cold weather, and well prove it.

Give your hens Don Sung and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, simply tell us and your money will be cheerfully refunded. Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) is a scientific tonic and conditioner. It is easily written in the fact. Improves hen's health and makes her stronger and more active. It tones up the egg-laying organs, and gets the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather.

You can obtain Don Sung from your druggist or poultry remedy dealer, or send $1.04 (includes war tax) for a package by mail. Burdell-Dugger Co., 214 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

Harding At Fishing Grounds

MIAMI, FLA., January 31.—Faintly cut off from communication with the outside world, President-elect Harding began this morning a two days' fishing expedition among the Florida keys. With headquarters at the island of Coccoloba, forty miles south of here, the president-elect and his vacation party will spend today and tomorrow strolling over the neighboring fishing grounds for barracuda, amber jacks and sail fish. In their trips out from the island they are using the yacht Shadow V, on which they left Miami last night.

Mad Dog Runs Amuck; Killed By Officer

A prize bull dog owned by Robert Mevins, steelworker, Fourth and Madison streets, terrorized citizens in the West End for several hours Monday morning when the canine developed rabies and escaping from his kennel ran amuck until Officer Stanley Schroeder cornered the animal after a merry chase and shot it.

The canine showed fight when cornered and made a couple of savage lunges at the officer before he could bring his automatic into action, one bullet from which was enough to settle the fight. This dog was the "daddy" of the canine which bit Officer Schroeder and laid him up for more than a month.

If you break your lens we can make an exact duplicate no matter where you got your glasses.

THE MARKETS
NEW YORK STOCKS
NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—The stock market, the week opened with a mixture of gains and losses. Associated Oil, last Saturday's advance, feature, soon rose 1 1/2 points, but other shares of that class, notably Mexican Petroleum, were lower. The same irregularity was shown by steels and equipments. American and Baldwin Locomotives rising moderately with variable advances as well as several of the secondary rails, Texas Pacific gaining 1 1/2. Foreign exchange was dull, the British rate recording nominal reaction.
The list cancelled much of its early advance on selling of Crucible, Mexican Petroleum, Hilde and Leather preferred and Sumatra Tobacco. Associated Oil also reacted and Manila Sugar dropped 6 points. Rallies ensued on buying of General Asphalt and Houston Oil, also several of the independent steels and rubber shares. Another reversal occurred before noon, Standard falling 2 1/2 points on rumors regarding the dividend which the directors are expected to declare in the day. The cheaper rails, especially New Orleans, Texas and Mexico, made further gains. Call money opened at 7 per cent and exchange on London continued to decline.
Operations of pools in some of the speculative issues and firmer money tendencies were the conflicting features of today's dull stock market. Sales approximated 500,000 shares.
The closing was heavy.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS
CHICAGO
CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Wheat prices developed considerable strength today after a hesitating start. Leading commission houses became active buyers on finding that initial offerings were light. Mormonism Named From Charlatan.
The word "mormonism" meaning some form of heresy, came from a man who asserted at one time that he was a discoverer of the phenomenon. Frederic Antoine Mesmer came to public attention in Paris in 1778. The secrets of hypnosis have been known to a greater or less number of persons almost since the dawn of civilization, but being an uncertain science, it frequently was forgotten or discredited except by a small group of priests or wizards. Mesmer, undoubtedly began in good faith, and with a real desire to aid suffering humanity. His hypnotic "cures" did just what similar "cures" do today—that they were of benefit in certain forms of mental and nervous diseases.

Soldiers' Bonus Measure Vote In House Today
COLUMBUS, O., January 31.—Action on two investigations of state departments is expected soon after the convening of the legislature later today. The Doley resolution proposing investigation of the state highway department was scheduled for consideration immediately after the preliminaries were disposed of and Representative Adkinson, of Franklin county, apparently was ready to institute a resolution looking to an investigation of the state oil inspector's office.
Consideration today of the soldiers' bonus resolution by the senate and action in the house Wednesday on the Miller prohibition measure, together with various other matters to come up, were expected to round out a full week for the legislators.

Will Not Raise Traction Rates
SPRINGFIELD, O., January 31.—Referring to the fact that prices of commodities are dropping at the present time, Charles Serviss, general manager of the Springfield and Xenia Traction Co., announced this afternoon that his company would not take advantage of increased passenger rates should they be upheld by the supreme court.
"As prices of everything else are coming down, the intentions of the company at the present time are not to take advantage of the increase in fare if it is sustained in the supreme court," he said.

Beautiful Tropical Plants
Most plants in the tropics have two fruiting seasons and millions of seedlings start, but few ever get sufficient foothold to develop beyond the first stages of plant growth. But the one that does can almost be seen to grow. Their upper leaves are all on a level and glow with the most beautiful tints. The branches of the different trees are so interlaced that it is impossible to distinguish which flower and leaf belongs to which tree.

OBITUARY
Mrs. Peter Tracy
Elizabeth Taylor Wilcox, daughter of Milton and Rachel Wilcox, was born near Rome, Ohio, May 8, 1836, and entered into eternal rest January 2, 1921, at her home in Rome, Ohio, aged 84 years, 7 months and 24 days.
She united with the Rome Presbyterian church in the winter of 1873. She was married to Peter Tracy, October 2, 1854, and to this union were born seven children, one dying in infancy. She labored to mourn their loss a devoted husband and the following children: Mrs. Lillian T. Moore, of West Union, Ohio; William L. Tracy of Chicago, Ill.; Mrs. Ada Cox of Portsmouth, Ohio; Otto P. Tracy, of Walbridge, Ohio; Mrs. Evelyn Strickland, of Portsmouth, Ohio; Elsie, at home; also one sister, Mrs. Ida M. Wesson, of Kansas City, Mo., one brother, William of Portsmouth, Ohio, and fourteen grandchildren. The family mourns the loss of an affectionate and loving wife and mother.
She had been a patient sufferer for fourteen years and had been able to engage with her friends. She enjoyed the homecoming of her children and grandchildren, her neighbor's visits and social chats, but what is their loss to her gain; she suffers no more and has entered that peaceful rest that is awaiting on the other shore.
Funeral services were conducted at the home, January 6, by Rev. Wilson Stitt of the Presbyterian church at Rome after which the remains were laid to rest in the Odd Fellows' cemetery at West Union.

MAURICE TOURNEUR presents

THE LAST OF THE MOHICANS

An American drama eternal by James Fenimore Cooper
Directed by MAURICE TOURNEUR and CLARENCE L. BROWN
The story of a prince without a kingdom

One of the Biggest Pictures the Eastland Theatre Has Ever Shown Starts Tonight For Four Nights. In James Fenimore Cooper's Great Tale, "The Last of the Mohicans," An American Drama Eternal—An Historically True Version of the World's Known Story—Every American Should See It.

Program Tonight:
A—Overture.
B—Maurice Tourneur presents "The Last of the Mohicans."
C—Lute McKelvie and His Minstrelsy.
D—Harold Lloyd in "Ask Father."
The most notable production of the new season will be exhibited at the Eastland Theatre, starting, tonight in the showing of Maurice Tourneur's great production, "The Last of the Mohicans." James Fenimore Cooper's famous Leather Stocking story. The following is the review given this production by one of the leading critics. Be sure and see this great picture.
As photography it is the best, the most beautiful that moving pictures have ever shown—this picture. "The Last of the Mohicans." Maurice Tourneur never made such scenes before, and probably never will again. How he can ever beat them is something to guess about these long, winding, twisting, and turning scenes, the making of Indians, clouds, mountains, trees, gun barrels, waterfalls, are masterpieces. Tourneur can do things with sunlight that you cannot dream. As it is, he is one of the mighty, and "The Last of the Mohicans" is his best.
Before you know it your soul will leave your broken-backed old carcass slumped in the seat and climbing up into the silver sheet, will go off back into the old young days of your youth hand in hand with Urean and Hawkeye and the snaky Magua, who would never, never bite the dust until Cooper had you up against the hind cover of the book. Not by new scenes of stonewalling does Tourneur work wonders with your soul, for the story is the plain tale of the Leather Stocking classic; not by the marvelous subtleties, for they are short and merely stirring but by this thing he has mastered, photography.
Against the dream of cliffs and falling wreaths of water in Yellowstone.

At the Exhibit Theatre for Two Nights Starting Tonight. One of the Year's Biggest Plays, "The Blue Moon," a Rapid Action Drama That Will Satisfy the Call For Something New—Don't Miss It.

Once in a blue moon there is produced a photodrama that is real entertainment for everyone in the family—and then watch them all turn out to see it! Such is the screen version of David Anderson's popular story, "The Blue Moon," by the American Film Company, which will be shown at the Exhibit tonight. This production shows Pat Trenton and Eleanor, sold in the leading roles, and provides Harry Northrup with a splendid "heavy" part.

Pat Trenton plays the part of a young man without a name. As one of the pearl fishers among the rough river men of the Wabash, he wins the friendship of the boss of the gang and one night finds the great mawled with peculiar markings which holds a great "blue moon" pearl. On the eve of this great luck his mother dies without telling him his father's name. How the Pearlhunter meets and loves the little maiden of the woods, whom he calls "Wild Rose"; how he sells the blue moon and is accused of stealing it again; how he escapes from the trap set for him by a masked rider who is the terror of the community; how he traces "Red Mask's" identity and captures him—this forms a powerful story of rapid action, tense interest and a jostling thrill which has been holding audiences spellbound in various theaters where it has been shown all over the country.

IF MOTHERS ONLY KNEW
During these days how many children are complaining of headaches, feverishness, stomach troubles and irregular bowels. If mothers only knew what Mother Gray's Sweet Powders would do for their children, they would never be without them. These powders are so easy and pleasant to take and so effective in their action that mothers who once use them always tell other mothers about them. Sold by druggists everywhere.

RIGHTS OF MINE WORKERS MUST BE RECOGNIZED BY GOVERNMENT-GREEN

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 31.—If government regulation of the coal industry is to bring with it "permanent peace and prosperity in the industry," it must be founded on a recognition of the "fundamental rights of workers," William Green, secretary of the United Mine Workers of America, declared today before the senate committee considering the Calder bill for regulation of the industry.

In passing regulatory legislation, Mr. Green said, it should be the "first concern" of congress to "define the fundamental rights of the worker in the coal industry and to so frame his legislative program that those rights will be protected at all times."

As "fundamental principles" of labor rights, without recognition of which in any program regulation, he said, there could be "no hope of permanent peace and prosperity in the coal industry and no promise that the paramount public interest will be subserved."

"The eight hour work day."

Next Game In Ashland

The next game on the P. H. S. basketball schedule is with Ashland high at Ashland, to be staged there Friday, Feb. 4.

The Red and Blue lads are still rejoicing over their Friday night victory over Huntington high, and since they took the measure of the Ashland lads here without much trouble and then took Huntington into camp, the locals are confident they will trim the Kentuckians on their home floor. Last here P. H. S. opened the season at Ashland and lost by a close score.

Schirrmann, has about recovered from an attack of grip and will soon be ready to play at forward. The locals presented a formidable lineup against Huntington and the same lineup will probably be used against Ashland.

Although Captain Muller feels able to get into the game, Coach McComb does not want to use him in one of the games and get him hurt again, his aim being to save Muller for the Ohio University tournament at Athens, Feb. 24 and 25 and the Ohio Western tournament March 4 and 5.

A LACK OF EXAMPLE

CERTAIN dry advocates are bulldozing the legislature into passing a more drastic prohibition enforcement measure, insisting it is necessary because the people will not observe the law, which is a most sacred thing and never to be spurned.

Bosh! The law isn't a sacred thing, not even with those goodly ones who would sanctify humanity through the purifying grace of statute. They do not venerate it themselves, not when it serves their purpose otherwise. They are not even observing the law, they are violating it and tearing up its foundation, the constitution itself, when they order that this latest enforcement measure shall be passed with an emergency clause. There is no condition existing that warrants giving the measure an emergency character. There are ample provisions both in the state and the national law for making the prohibition amendment effective. It is not a simple matter of the diligence and efficiency of public officials. The appending then of an emergency clause is only a subterfuge to defeat the will of the people. The people defeated decisively the Crabbe act when it was put up to them by a referendum. An emergency clause affixed to it on re-enactment will defeat a referendum and so the expressed will of the people.

A law justifies its existence only on the assumption that it is the will of the people.

AS THE SANDS OF THE SEA

WE read an item in which it is stated that the mints are to turn out a new coin, a two cent piece with the head of Roosevelt upon it.

That moves us to inquire if your longing for wealth would be satisfied with all the one cent pieces the government mints in a year?

If it would not, then you might, in an average life time, get richer than Rockefeller if you could go diligently enough about to pick up every penny that is lost.

And speaking of pennies, there are some remarkable facts concerning its coinage and circulation. Use of it has increased over fifty times what it was four years ago. It is almost inconceivable that sixty millions of them are turned out every month. A large part of this increase is accounted for in the imposition of small war taxes, stamps on deeds and charges on ice cream, soft drinks and movies. It took the penny long years to cross the Mississippi river and it seemed as though it never would cross the Rocky Mountains, but now its use is as popular in California as it is in Vermont.

One could spend a whole evening interestingly in figuring on this outflow of pennies. For instance 60,000,000 a month amount to 720,000,000 a year. That is more than six for each inhabitant, man, woman and child. It takes 7,500 to weigh a hundred pounds, then how many pounds are coined a year? One is so wide, how many laid side by side would it take to reach around the world or how high would the 720,000,000 be, if piled on top of each other? And so on ad infinitum.

Pennies are made of 95 per cent copper and five per cent tin and zinc, the two latter metals to prevent them from corroding. The cost of material in a pound of pennies is about 25 cents. This leaves Uncle Sam a price and well nigh a clear profit of 95 cents the pound.

For in fact, the penny is, in the one respect like the cat, that never came back, it never returns to the treasury for redemption. Where and how they disappear no one knows, or is able to account. From the rapidity with which they disappear it looks like the whole face of the earth ought to be covered with them in a few years. But did it ever occur to you how few of them you find? We have lived a spell and covered a considerable part of the country, but have never found as many as a half dozen. We have, however, lost a million or so either directly or by giving them to small children, who did the losing. Anyway they always came back for more.

Nickels are made of 75 per cent copper and 25 per cent nickel. It is the latter metal that gives the coin both its color and name. Like the penny it seldom finds its way back to the treasury for redemption, and a hundred million new ones have to be coined every year to keep up a convenient circulation.

The grape vine whispers from Washington that Charles Hughes is not to be the secretary of state.

More mail is handled daily between the New York city post office and the Pennsylvania station and the Grand Central than between any other three points in the world. It takes 805 auto truck trips to carry it all.

Odd things fit into each other. One moment we read in one periodical that the United States post office was the most efficient business in the world and the next we read in another that a woman, in New York, had just received a letter that was written to her nineteen years ago. She was a globe trotter and that letter had followed her over half the world going to England, France, Germany, Italy, Russia, China, Japan and other countries. Sometimes it was only a day behind her, sometimes a month or more, but it kept on until it finally reached her at her home, within twenty miles of where it was first mailed.

Come to think about it the Ohio has behaved most decently so far this winter and we don't hear a word about there being snow in the mountains. Still, you never can tell what is going to happen, especially if you are talking about the Ohio.

Special Schools For Gifted Children

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 31.—That the gifted child needs a special kind of schooling, just as much as the defective child, is an idea which is gaining recognition in this country.

In Germany, it appears, it has been fully recognized. American educators are studying the German system of schools for gifted pupils. The Bureau of Education is giving special attention to the problem. In a few American cities tentative efforts have been made to establish special schools or classes for the gifted.

The argument for such schools is this: Among school children is a certain percentage who are highly and specifically gifted. They are the children who will, or at least may, become artists, writers, composers, original scientific investigators, leaders in various lines. They represent nothing less than the future creative power of the race and of the nation. It is the work of such people that makes a civilization. The rest merely carry on what the creators start.

Surely, then, these children are worthy of special attention. Surely an intelligent nation will make every effort to find them out and help them along. Yet this has never been done in this country.

It is useless to pretend that the regular school course is suited to the gifted child. It is necessarily adapted to the average child. The gifted child usually suffers in two ways. In the first place he does not take to the slow and plodding routine of it, and in the second place he gets no adequate training in his special line. The boy with a gift for drawing, for instance, is punished for making a cartoon of the teacher in the back of his book when he should be studying algebra. But if a school system knew how to use its human material, this boy would at once be out in an art class, and he would not be forced to take a great deal of mathematics, which perhaps he could neither see nor comprehend.

Underfed and undertrained children are placed in outdoor schools in many cities, and given suitable attention. The abnormally dull child is cured for in a special class, where his case is studied and he is taught as an individual so that what powers he has may develop. In an ordinary school room these types are unable to conform to conditions, and are a constant worry to the teacher. So they are provided for in most city schools. But the bright child, who is just as much in need of special attention, and so much better worth it, is usually disregarded.

The German idea is to have the children who seem brightest to their teachers observed for two years and given tests by a board of examiners and school superintendents. Those who do not seem promising during the trial years are dropped from the competition and put back with the regular pupils. The survivors are then sent to a school for gifted pupils and divided into classes, those who wish a classical course, and those who are more interested in a course with modern languages as a basis.

All this is purely academic. The pupils are taught the usual high school subjects, but the course is enriched, and adapted to their superior mentality. Many of them, presumably will use the training as a foundation for university work and become writers, scientists, and statesmen.

This plan has been tried out in Berlin now for three years. In the main it is considered successful, and it is being extended to different parts of the country. The difficulties are in details—the basis on which candidates should be selected, and the character of the training to be given them.

It is interesting to note that the desiderata are chosen by intelligence and psychological tests. Germany has always been a country where education progressed from one examination to another examination—all fact tests. The new measurement is entirely different. The various cities have their own tests, but in one city which is probably typical, the candidate is gauged according to such points as attention, memory, imagination, thinking ability, expression through language, susceptibility to fatigue, disposition and will, and power of observation.

Small Percentage Gifted

Judging by the results to date, the German school officials figure that about 1-1/2 percent of the school population can be counted on to prove themselves worth the extra trouble of special training. This percentage of our public school population would be about 300,000 children. While the advisability of special schools for these pupils in our country has not been considered, scattered attempts are being made in a few of our cities to recognize the rights of the bright pupil.

Minneapolis has adopted a system of promotion by subjects, so that the child who is slow at figures but can read anything does not have to spend months on reading books that bore him by their simple language. Instead, he may be in the fourth grade in reading, and only in the third or second in arithmetic. With this plan, the child who has difficulty with one or two subjects is less apt to become discouraged, because he does not have to repeat all the work of a grade in order to get a full set of passing marks. And, of course, the pupil who is bright can be promoted as rapidly as his work warrants. The objection to this arrangement, sometimes heard is that the pupil is apt to neglect the studies in which he is slow and get a one-sided education.

Detroit and some other cities are trying a different solution. They have each class divided into three sections—the brightest pupils in one, those of ordinary mentality in another, and those who are slow in the third. This is said to work very well.

Some such system as this is about all the public schools can do for the gifted child so long as he is kept with the others. He cannot be given much individual instruction. The teacher who has 25 pupils has, an ideal class, and very few have so small a number of children as that. Every member in a class is not unusual, and there are often more.

The bright child will eventually be given a chance. Commissioner Claxton of the Bureau of Education, is in favor of a branch of his bureau to study the needs of exceptional children, both those who are gifted and those who are deficient. Not very much is being done by the state for either type, but it will take longer for the gifted child to gain recognition as a being with rights. He does not present the same appeal to sentiment as the pitifully stupid child, struggling to keep up with work that he cannot grasp. But he is worth infinitely more.

Developing Talents

The schools for the all-around bright children have suggested a need for a similar system of segregating those who are particularly good at one thing—mathematics, or drawing, or physics. This type, is now being provided for in some German cities with the idea of developing talents of those who may distinguish themselves in artistic or scientific pursuits.

Such children may not be accounted good students, but if they show some talent they are given examination in

A Noisy Donation

My most embarrassing moment happened to be while I was in church one Sunday morning. I had collected thirty-five pennies and put them in a box to give to the Christmas collection. I was just about to put the pennies into the basket when, alas, the cover came off of the box and my precious thirty-five pennies were rolling all over the floor. I could not wait until church finished, as I felt all eyes upon me as I picked up my pennies.—Chicago Tribune.

Q. What part of the human body is water? E. C. D.

A. Water forms over 60 per cent of the weight of the body of the average man.

Q. Why is New York called Gotham? P. H. V.

A. The term "Gotham" is applied to New York satirically. The allusion is to a parish by this name in England noted for the simplicity of its inhabitants. In the 16th century a collection of stories said to be by Dr. Andrew Bore was made about them including the hymn about the "Three Wise Men of Gotham." The term was first used by Washington Irving in "Salmagundi" in 1807.

Q. I am sending you a post card showing carriages in Rotterdam. You say only the King can drive there. How about it, Englishwoman?

A. The post card shows both Rotterdam and a bridge path, and the driveway which runs beside it.

Q. A little girl from Pittsburgh wants to know why so many places in Southern Florida are called Key. Like Key West. Can you tell her? A. T. S.

A. The word "key" as applied to a chain of islands off the Florida Coast, is derived from the Spanish word "Cayo," which means a low island. The term is used in regions where the Spanish language is or was formerly used.

Q. What is the difference in velocity between the incoming and outgoing tides in the Golden Gate? P. A. E.

A. The Hydrographic Office of the Navy says that the inward tides of Golden Gate have a velocity of 3.3 knots and the outward of 3.4 knots, making a difference of 1/10 of a knot in the velocity between the incoming and outgoing tides of that port.

Q. Will butter made of sweet cream keep better than that which is made from sour cream? J. M. C.

A. The Department of Agriculture says that butter made of sweet cream ripened or sweet cream is specified in orders from the United States Navy for this reason.

Sir Edward Carson's resignation from the war cabinet reminds one of a famous illustration of the "dry" humor in which he occasionally indulged at the courts.

In his slow, apparently lazy way he rose to cross-examine a witness, whose face and nose left little room to doubt his libelous tendencies.

"Are you a very hard drinker, sir?" asked Sir Edward, looking the man up and down.

"That's my business," came the answer.

Carson shrugged his shoulders. "Any other business, sir?" he snapped.

Easy!

WHO'S WHO

In The Days News

THOMAS W. LAMONT

Through his ability to pick up the loose ends of a "story" and to build them into a harmonious and logical whole Thomas W. Lamont, a member of the J. P. Morgan banking firm, became a power in the world of finance.

He was on the New York Tribune nearly twenty years ago and, bending over the assignment book, made out by that time and among city editors, Arthur P. Dwyer.

When Thomas W. Lamont went out to get news he got everything there was and saw several years ahead of the then day and hour.

He lived out in New Jersey then. While still in the newspaper game and pursuing the Great God Success at $25 a week he undertook as a side line the resuscitation of a small commercial concern. The reporter developed such constructive ability and such a general liking for the romance of finance and business that before long he was a doctor to sick corporations.

The executive ability which he displayed attracted the attention of the financial powers that be and from that hour his future was assured.

He became an officer of the Bankers' Trust Company, a vice-president of the First National bank and ten years ago he was admitted to partnership in the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co. He is one of the many men who have gained a foundation for success in newspaper work and have built well the superstructure. He is fifty years old. He was born in Claverack, N. Y., September 30, 1870.

Obeying the Warning

"He's perfectly quiet," remarked the liveyerman to the two ladies who were about to hire a pony and trap, "only you must take care to keep the rein of his tail."

"We won't forget," they replied.

When they returned the liveyerman inquired how they got on.

"Squidly!" they exclaimed. "We had one rather sharp shower, but we took turns holding the umbrella over his tail, so there was no real danger."

New-York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys; those early and abroad. Walked to Twenty Third street and at a book-stall bought a volume of Kenta for 2s, and then about the old Chelsea district which has become a new shopping place. Stopped at a little eating place by the river, filled with soft faring men, and had thick bacon and eggs, very good.

Meeting F. Goodwin, the artist, who made steps to call on C. Falls at his studio but he was not at all about the sun was over Gramercy Park and I felt a snug righteousness for being up and about while others slept. Two bicycles stood at the curb at the Players and our man of letters seem to be taking to the fast means of travel.

With V. Porter to the Dutch Treat luncheon and Will White from Kansas spoke bravely as did Sinclair Lewis, latest volume "Main Street," but he had no fancy airs nor his head swollen as the custom sometimes is over sudden greatness. Home where a fellow came and made a solemn profession of his friendship yet I know he came because of a misdoing against me but I kept my tongue.

Dined with my wife on sausages and buckwheat cakes with maple syrup. Mr. Moses sent and brought fine tea. Later came M. Long, the editor and Law-Cooly, the cinema actor, and we talked of this, that, ragging and bobbing and I made them some limes on my talking machine and Lew and I played on paper covered combs, very sweet. And someone brought a great hole in the table cover with a cigarette. So to bed.

The gamblers who play the ocean liners were put out of business by the war but they are back on the job and their ears are in full view.

More than 600 policemen. It is stated will resign from the New York police force shortly. They would resign at once but prefer to wait until the police department is not under fire. Conditions have become intolerable for the self respecting policeman and there are many. Grafters, political tricksters and the like have made the honest policeman feel that almost any man who wears the blue uniform is under suspicion. The kindly star of a cop who realizes that he is a public servant is generally put to some far away post. But the honest, club carrying bully, who regards every citizen as a target for his sarcasm, gets the choice plum.

Ears which have been so long hidden by Middy's coiffure are to have their chance again to live in the open. Women in the smart cafes, who are always several months in advance of the styles, are now dressing their hair so their ears are in full view.

All in Quest of Magic

Stories of magic come from Bavaria, where curious things are said to be happening under the strange influence of a girl nine years old. Her clothes, dishes and food jump into the air, "sticks, stones and pieces of sod that rose and whirled about them."

Old stuff and nothing to be compared with the telephone, the wireless, the motor car, and other modern utilities that would have been regarded as the work of the devil 500 years ago. From Ptolemy the Egyptian, contemporary with Christ, down, we have had fear of magic. Two hundred years later familiars were raising himself nine feet in the air with no bootstraps to pull on, and evoking him to terrorize his audiences. Nine hundred years ago Silverdred, the finding, subterranean magic palaces, and 350 years ago Luther was having personal contests with his Satanic Majesty.

Today we make our magic real through the harness it, and make use of it with it by compelling it to serve us as light or power or over seas, at messages under or over seas, at for annihilation of eternal youth but seek rejuvenation from the contents of medicine bottles, the pulling of bad teeth, proper diet and medicated baths.

We all believe in magic of some kind, and seek it in Wall Street or the pulpit or the classroom or the parlour to the grade of our intellects.

Making a Will

Most men shrink from making their wills. It is a duty that exists character, and brings one face to face with responsibilities and duties that are not cheerful. In a sense, it puts a man of property up against his final disposition of earthly affairs—never a pleasant thing to contemplate. It is an acknowledgment of his mortality and the certainty that he must return to dust.

Yes the will should be made, deliberately and with studied fairness, when the maker is in sound health and full possession of all his faculties. It is a dreadful thing to make a will when one is in pain, when breath is leaving the body and death will not be stayed. How many souls go forth into the unknown tortured by the consciousness of things forgotten in the hurried distribution of property, of obligations overlooked, of ill-considered decisions—on because of great duty was left to the last day of failing strength!

Windfall

A windfall is an unexpected legacy or money dropped as it were from the sky. The saying originated when the English nobility were forbidden by the tenure of their estates to fell the timber, all the trees being reserved for the use of the royal navy. Such trees as were blown down, however, were excepted, hence a good wind often proved a veritable Godsend.
